Tears after cars drive on graves

BY ADAM GRINSELL

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

CARELESS motorists drove over and within feet of graves at a cemetery on Saturday.

Dozens of cars parked at Selbourne Avenue cemetery in Bletchley for a football tournament were recklessly driven around the site, which has more than 200 graves, with the wet conditions meaning the ground was badly affected.

One relative was reduced to tears after going to visit his wife's grave, only to find tyres had churned up the turf surrounding her burial spot.

Brian O'Sullivan's wife Maureen only passed away in February, and his son-in-law Ross, who was killed in action in Afghanistan, is also buried there.

The angry 65-year-old from Brownswood said: "A car had driven within two feet of my wife's grave and someone had driven across another grave.

"There were people parked opposite my wife's grave - I was absolutely raving. You want somewhere to visit your loved ones in peace and quiet, and a bit of serenity.

"It's a field, it's not a cemetery - it's just a dumping ground for bodies. It's not cheap to bury someone down there, it cost me £600, and it's just a hole in the ground."

Milton Keynes Council allows the surfaced car park at the site to be used as an overflow by Scott Sports and Social Club on football match days.

A spokesman said: "We are very sorry to hear about this damage and we will be reinstating any ground which has been churned up by tyre tracks. If any damage has been caused to grave plots, we will also be repairing them.

"We did have an informal arrangement with a local football club allowing them to use the cemetery surfaced car park as an overflow car park on match days. This arrangement helped to keep the cemetery access road clear for cemetery users at weekends.

"However we were unaware that a tournament of this scale was taking place at the weekend and certainly would not have sanctioned the parking on the grass of the unused part of the cemetery that happened. We have taken the incident up with the club who have apologised profusely and given us their word that this will not happen again."

Club secretary Gary Barrett said he thought the incident happened when drivers became worried their cars would become stuck following the rain.

He added: "We fully understand the upset and distress caused to relatives. We can't condone what happened and are offering our sincerest condolences."

Square could get new name

THE rail gateway to Milton Keynes could today have a new name.

Milton Keynes Council leader Andrew Geary was last night deciding whether to change the name of Station Square, outside Central Milton Keynes railway station, to Fred Roche Square.

In 1970 Mr Roche became the general manager of the Milton Keynes Development Corporation at the age of 39, leading the team that was to lay the foundations for the new city.

Council officers were originally asked if the square could be given a royal name, such as Jubilee or Coronation Square, but feedback suggested there was 'little appetite' for the move.

They were then asked to consult on Fred Roche Square, and again the idea has been met with a mixed response.

Central Milton Keynes Town Council believes the memorial would be a good way to 'book-end' the city centre, with Campbell Park also being named after one of the city's founding members, Lord Jock Campbell of Eskan.

But Campbell Park ward councillor Isobel McCall believes the move could be a bad one for businesses and those who use the square.

She said: "If you give it another name no-one will call it that anyway.

"Things like letter heads for businesses based there would have to be changed.

"The people who matter most haven't been consulted.

"There are lots of new streets going up, so why rename an existing square?"

Cllr Geary said he was making the decision with an open mind and would listen to all submissions.

The city's

Some took away their very own torches

THE Olympic flame sparked the city's passion for the games as thousands crammed along the torch relay route on Monday morning.

The atmosphere was electric despite the early hour as the flame passed through Central Milton Keynes and Bletchley.

Reigniting memories of the action-packed Red Bull display in December, the city's community spirit was well and truly on display as people of all ages and races lined the streets to show their support for the relay.

Children, former Olympians, charity fundraisers and even a Mexican astronaut carried the torch through the city.

Torchbearer and former boxer Allan Grainger, who was featured in MK NEWS last week and will be loaning his torch to MK Museum to display, said: "It was fantastic, way beyond my beliefs. All my family were there and the crowd were unbelievable."

Leukemia survivor and tireless fundraiser Hazel Staten, 57, from Bradwell, carried the torch at Bletchley Park.

She said: "It's an overused word but it really was amazing.

"It was an incredible experience, everyone was so happy and really into the Olympic spirit."

Office workers lucky enough to be along the route made their way to windows and rooftops to catch a glimpse of the procession as it passed, while thousands of others risked being a little bit late for work and school.

Lyn Jarvis from Bradwell Common took the day off work to make her way to Silbury Boulevard and wave her Union Jack for the event.

She said: "It's something that I didn't expect to happen in the UK in my lifetime and I wanted to be part of it in any way I could.

"The atmosphere was great - it really gave me a sense of community."

After travelling through the city centre, the torch made its way to Bletchley for a private engagement at Bletchley Park and then along Buckingham Road on its way to Aylesbury.

David Piper, 28, turned out with his son Connor, three.

He said: "I wish every Monday morning could start like this, it was a little bit of history on our doorsteps.

"Connor loved seeing the flame burn and everyone clapping and cheering. The runners looked like they loved every minute."

It's a shame our views have been disregarded

SIR - In your article 'Group still up for fight on uniform' (MK NEWS, July 4) the Stantonbury Campus principal, Chris Williams, is reported as claiming that 'two thirds of parents and staff' support a dress code and 'most of those' also support a uniform.

It is a deep shame that Mr Williams feels the need to treat our views with such disregard.

It is simply not true that a majority of parents or staff (let alone two thirds) showed their support for these changes during the consultation.

The majority of parents did not respond to the consultation – perhaps because it only lasted nine days!

Stantonbury Against Uniform has estimated that out of the whole parent body asked their opinions less than ten per cent actually requested a new dress code.

Mr Williams does not mention that three quarters of the students at Stantonbury are against his proposed changes.

It is pleasing that following significant opposition from students, the uniform has been held off for a year, but the new dress code that has now been sent home is ridiculous. It is far too restrictive.

Some of us will have barely an item of clothing which is deemed acceptable, yet many families simply cannot afford to restock their children's wardrobes.

Stantonbury Against Uniform thinks that the individuality of students at the school is something that must be cherished, not repressed.

We want education and learning to remain the focus of the school's endeavours.

Having to impose an unworkable dress code will be an unnecessary distraction for staff.

Stantonbury Against Uniform has organised an open meeting to discuss the future of our school.

It invites parents, students, staff and other members of the Stantonbury community to come and have their say about the new dress code and plans for a uniform in 2013.

The meeting will take place in the Christ Church on Stantonbury Campus tomorrow at 7.30pm.

Unique school will become uniformed

SIR - What a poor decision to introduce a school uniform at Stantonbury Campus.

The school should be building on the foundations that have been laid, instead of trying to cover over them.

The whole idea of 'open' dress and an 'open' school is what makes most of its students such amazing individuals.

It builds their character and their confidence.

I left the sixth form this time last year and since then I have started a successful career. One of the main reasons I was able to hit the ground running is the 'free' spirit Stantonbury gave me and my fellow students.

But now it seems it wants to kill part of the foundations the school was built on and as a result it will lose its personality and uniqueness.

School won't be better

SIR - I completely understand the pressure for schools to listen to and respond to their parents; this has become a norm in our education system.

However, I do not believe introducing a uniform will make one iota of difference to the quality of learning or of teaching.

Stantonbury has provided a high quality education right from its inception - it has been an exciting and stimulating place in which to learn and work.

It is a shame to concede its uniqueness to marketing pressure.

Plan would stop poorer kids being embarrassed

SIR - I was a student at Stantonbury Campus in the 1980s and, although it has always been a non-uniform school, I believe it should change to a uniformed one.

Coming from a family of three girls with only our mum to support us we never had enough money to buy all the trendy clothes that all the other kids wore.

As a result we were sometimes embarrassed by not being able to afford the latest clothes.

Having a school uniform will reduce the problem of poorer kids not being able to wear the same sort of clothes as the rest of the pupils and stop them being embarrassed by the fact that they do not have as much money as them.

Teach parents benefit of having dress code

SIR - I am in favour of the school uniform policy that is being introduced by Stantonbury Campus.

I am sure this makes sense in the long run, as children won't be hung up about what they are going to wear that day and the ramifications of that in their peer group.

I am sure children can be very adaptive and it is the adults who need educating.

This decision is not out of the blue as it was mentioned by principal Chris Williams during the school open session attended by me and my child together with numerous parents and children last year.

I feel uniforms stop the have and have not culture and help in identifying truancy issues.

They also help children concentrate on their studies, without the fuss of what they are wearing.

And in these times of austerity, they help parents financially by keeping clothing costs down.

We must stand up to the wind farm 'bullies'

SIR - Regarding the story 'Storm brews over plan for wind masts' on the front of last week's paper.

It really is quite outrageous that a bullying multinational power company and its multinational legal firm is threatening the taxpayers of Milton Keynes with protracted and 'costly legal proceedings'.

Milton Keynes Council is democratically elected; RWE Npower Renewables and Eversheds are not.

No doubt the costs arising from any litigation will be due to this particular legal firm dipping its grasping hands into the public purse and depleting funding for essential services – just so its client can get its own way.

They are simply corporate bullies attempting to override democracy and Milton Keynes Council should stand up to them.

Confusion over county road signs is a 'farce'

SIR - With reference to your story 'All signs point to confused council' (MK NEWS, July 4).

It's a farce! Milton Keynes Council has had more than 15 years to deal with the identity aspect of county status.

David Hill should furthermore be reminded that as a paid employee of the council he is there to support the elected members and not override their decisions.

Perhaps he should be encouraged to personally resurrect the seven signs in his own time rather than at the expense of local residents and preferably before the end of the decade!

Your views on Station Square

Send comments on our stories to letters@mk-news.co.uk

I THINK it looks good, but it's not practical for people who drive there and need to leave their car.

It seems taxis and buses have taken priority. The charges in car parks around the area are extortionate.
Charly Clarke
Sent by e-mail

WHAT a waste of time and huge amounts of money!

The huge concrete area in front of the station still exists but is just a walkway that could have been halved and made into short-stay parking to enable visiting the dry cleaners or going to buy train tickets in advance less of a chore.

The drop-off/pick-up/taxi area is too cramped and dangerous and whoever the architect was on this is completely bereft of any common sense or spacial awareness. Such a shame it was a wasted exercise!
Name and address supplied

YET again a major failure in Milton Keynes to make much needed improvements work for the better!
Name and address supplied

HAVING seen your article in the paper we feel the need to comment on the practicality and design of the 'kiss and drop' area of the station.

We use the station daily; my husband driving into the drop off area where he then pulls into the marked bays on the offside of the drive through.

This means that when I get out of his car I have to open my door into the path of passing vehicles. Why were the drop off bays not positioned by the nearside curb?

This would have prevented passengers having to step into the road and then cross with their luggage. Instead the nearside of the road has been marked with double yellow lines. Strange but true!

Perhaps someone will see sense during the bedding in period and change this to a safer layout.

I WAS given a copy of MK NEWS as I entered the station and when I read in your article on my commute to Birmingham that the development 'has now been completed and is fully operational' I nearly fell off my seat. It is not.

Anger: Milton Keynes Council planning committee members were faced with angry protesters on Monday afternoon as they made a site visit for a proposed Sri Lankan Community Centre in Fishermead Boulevard

Residents protest over centre plans

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

'INTEGRATION not segregation' was the cry from protesters at the site of a proposed community centre on Monday.

The Fishermead residents turned out in force to display their anger at the proposed facility as Milton Keynes Council's planning committee paid a visit.

They are concerned the proposed Sri Lankan Community Centre, next to the medical centre in Fishermead Boulevard which includes a gym and library, will only be available to members of the Sri Lankan community to use.

The plans state the primary use for one of the two community halls as being a place of worship, although this would not be the sole use, and the second would be used for Friday prayers.

Protester Eric Ingold said: "We shouldn't have a uni-religion centre in the heart of the estate. We want unification not separation."

But the applicants assert everyone will be able to use the facility.

Mufassal Mustapha from the Sri Lanka Muslim Community Foundation said: "The Sri Lankan community wants to do good by its neighbours, it's our religious duty. It's not a requirement to open it up but we want to give something to the community."

Objectors are also concerned traffic will increase and parking will be a problem.

A decision on the centre was due to be made last night - visit www.mk-news.co.uk for the result.

Fag ban councillor facing removal of honorary title

ONE year on from the highly controversial proposal to ban smoking in a town's public places, the councillor at the heart of the debate is facing having his title stripped.

Paul Bartlett was recently suspended as a town councillor in Stony Stratford after a panel found him guilty of breaking his code of conduct.

But tonight he also faces being stripped of being an Alderman, an honorary title conferred in recognition of a person's 'eminent services' to the council, again for breaking the code of conduct.

Mr Bartlett said: "I think it's pretty disgraceful – it's just being vindictive and it's not necessary.

"The whole thing shouldn't even be on the agenda, I'm very disappointed.

"The aldermanship was given to me as a thank you for supporting the people of Stony Stratford."

Although Mr Bartlett was hoping to have the discussion postponed due to a family emergency, Milton Keynes councillors are due to be discussing the issue tonight in a full council meeting.

Burglar hidden by overgrown bushes

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

A BARRICADE of bushes prevented a would-be burglar from being caught on CCTV.

Susan Cordwell, 60, of Great Denson, Netherfield, spotted a man trying to steal from her house in the early hours of the morning but when CCTV footage was examined the offender could not be seen over the bushes.

She said: "I couldn't sleep so I was sitting in my kitchen and it was just a complete shock.

"I banged on the window and he shouted to his friend and they legged it. I can't fault the police but we can't see who it was because of the bushes."

The bushes are chopped back by Milton Keynes Council once a year and residents have been told they will be cut down to three feet in October.

But the thorny bushes surround an area where children play and residents fear it is only a matter of time before one is injured.

Elaine Styles, 59, of Great Denson, said: "We want the bushes pulled out."

The battle of the bushes has frustrated residents so much that a petition was sent to the council.

A spokesman said: "We have been to see this lady and the shrubs in question have been put into the programme to be trimmed back at a later date.

"There clearly seems to be an antisocial behaviour issue here and we would be very keen to work with this lady, and probably the police, to help tackle this problem."

Cat is found tied to concrete block and drowned in canal

THE body of a cat which had been weighted down by a concrete breeze block has been discovered in a city canal.

The RSPCA is now appealing for information after the dead cat was found by a member of the public on the evening of Thursday, June 28, in the Grand Union Canal near to bridge 89, which runs close to the Peartree Bridge pub.

The cat had been tied to a breeze block with a blue rope.

RSPCA inspector Sue Haywood, investigating the incident, said: "Sadly the likelihood is the cat was drowned as I cannot imagine that someone would have done this if the cat was already dead.

"This poor cat would have suffered immensely and it makes me sick to think someone has treated it this way."

Anyone with any information should call 0300 123 8018.

Changes to skatepark underway

MEASURES to save Broughton Gate skatepark are being introduced by The Parks Trust.

In response to the Statutory Nuisance Abatement Notice issued by Milton Keynes Council, the trust will put a fence around the park, which will limit its use to between 10am and 7pm each day.

Initially a temporary two-metre fence will be put up while planning permission for a permanent barrier is obtained.

The trust is also looking into a number of other measures to reduce the noise coming from the skatepark and a specialist company will investigate whether changing the ramps and other features in it will help to reduce the noise.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Billy Harley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Bedford, Milton Keynes & Leighton Buzzard areas and Billy is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Billy a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Death of man found in river is a mystery

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

Exhumation: Scene at Fenny Stratford and Michael Walsh, inset

THE death of a man found in a river remains shrouded in mystery following an inquest yesterday.

The body of Michael John Walsh, formerly of Serpentine Court in Bletchley who would now be 54, was found in the River Great Ouse on December 5, 1986 by two workmen repairing Goosey Bridge near Olney.

The inquest - which originally took place in 1987 - was reopened and concluded yesterday with coroner Tom Osborne recording the same open verdict because the cause of death was 'unascertainable.'

Only the lower half of Mr Walsh's body was recovered from the river and the inquest heard it was likely the other half was separated due to 'normal wear and tear.'

It is also possible the body was washed down the river and became tangled in a weir.

Because only partial remains were recovered the man could not be identified at the time, but the emergence of DNA testing meant the body could be identified when it was exhumed from an unmarked grave in Fenny Stratford in March.

Mr Walsh was last seen on Christmas Day in 1985 - a day after he was arrested for breaching the peace.

He had been depressed for two days prior to his arrest and had been attending Alcoholics Anonymous.

Speaking on behalf of the family Mr Walsh's nephew, Devlin Walsh, asked: "Is it possible to request further investigation into the circumstances surrounding his death because we still don't know how, when and why?"

However, Mr Osborne said no further evidence was needed for him to conclude the inquest.

He added: "If further information is uncovered by the police then I will consider reopening the inquest."

German slur was 'joke' says Andy

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

A CABINET member has defended an 'utterly unacceptable' comment he made at a public meeting, saying it was a 'joke'.

As revealed by MK NEWS last week, German company RWE Npower Renewables threatened Milton Keynes Council (MKC) with legal action if it decided to adopt a policy which would increase the distance between wind turbines and homes.

When the issue was discussed at an extraordinary meeting of the council's decision-making cabinet last Wednesday, Cllr Andy Dransfield, who is the portfolio holder for children and young people, said: "I'd hope that we would argue against the German company if it ever came to any threat of legal action.

"We should send the bombs back, tell them where to put them and say let the people of Milton Keynes determine their own."

He was interrupted by Cllr Chris Williams who described the comment as 'utterly unacceptable' and was advised by Cllr David Hopkins - who chaired the meeting - to withdraw the comment, but he chose not to.

Following the meeting Cllr Dransfield said: "It was a heated debate on an issue which I feel strongly about and I think I had the support of the public."

However, one resident who attended the meeting has lodged a formal complaint with the council.

But Cllr Dransfield explained: "It was obviously a joke and I think some people need to get a life if they think I actually want to bomb Germany."

Although council leader Andrew Geary left the meeting due to a prejudicial interest he later told MK NEWS that the matter is being looked into.

> It was obviously a joke and I think some people need to get a life if they think I actually want to bomb Germany
> – Andy Dransfield

He said: "I did not hear the comment but I have had reports and nothing has led me to believe he has over stepped the mark.

"We will of course look into any formal complaints and take them into consideration."

The cabinet decided to adopt guidelines which will increase the distance between homes and turbines to one kilometre.

A spokesman for RWE said: "If an application is refused on this basis the council leaves itself open to challenge and we may choose this course of action."

Taxi action leads to shopper fears

See Roman treasures

BY ADAM GRINSELL

COMPLAINTS have been made after taxis were stopped from dropping off and picking up town centre shoppers.

On Saturday four traffic enforcement officers paid a visit to one end of Queensway in Bletchley, where the main stretch of shops is located.

They were allegedly telling taxi drivers they faced a £30 fine if they used the side of the road to drop off or pick up shoppers.

Denbigh ward councillor Nigel Long said he was called by residents to alert him to the officers.

In an e-mail to MK NEWS, he said he is worried the elderly and disabled people who use the shops there could suffer if this continues, as those are the main people using the taxi services.

He said he thought it could have an impact on a vulnerable group of people and damage the income of already struggling shops on the street.

Fellow ward councillor Mick Legg said he is also concerned and will be raising the issue at a full meeting of Milton Keynes Council tonight.

He said: "I'm concerned about the elderly and disabled - it's a bit much to expect them to walk the length of Queensway to do their business.

"The council should provide taxi drop-off bays."

A council spokesman said the problem is with drivers stopping on double yellow lines.

He said: "We've experienced a lot of problems in Queensway with people trying to park unlawfully – not just taxi drivers but with members of the public.

"One side of the road has yellow lines with no stopping, unless for emergency vehicles, but there is one particular stretch of the street, near a butchers' shop, where the restrictions are regularly ignored.

"There are specific locations in Queensway where taxi drivers can legitimately drop people off and pick them up."

Worry over charity's plan to expand site

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

RESIDENTS and councillors have voiced their concerns over a charity's plans for a major redevelopment.

MacIntyre in Haddon, Great Holm, provides specialist services for people with learning disabilities, including accommodation.

As previously reported by MK NEWS, it has submitted plans to Milton Keynes Council to redevelop the site, which include a two-storey specialist residential care unit for six people with physical disabilities.

However, some people are concerned the development will have a negative impact on the surrounding area.

Although Loughton Parish Council, which covers Great Holm, is not against redeveloping the site, councillors have raised concerns over the height and location of the residential unit.

Chairman Peter Todd said: "I think that the six people are very special and it would be a wonderful place for them to live.

"However, it's very large and is close to the junction and would impact on the junction."

Worries over the extension have also been raised by Haddon residents, including Jeanne Bandy.

She said: "My main concern is the amount of traffic the development will attract.

"We've also been told that we have no comeback if the price of our home falls because of the new building."

Anna Perry, head of operations at MacIntrye, said: "We would stress the new residential wing is set lower than the existing building and will be two storeys high, whereas the current building on the corner of Haddon and Kensington Drive is three storeys.

"Therefore the overall height of the new wing will be less, not more."

Unwanted rat pack in estate

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@mk-news.co.uk

KIND-HEARTED residents who have been leaving food out for birds are unwittingly attracting other creatures instead – rats.

People in Monkston have told MK NEWS about an increase in the unwanted visitors around the neighbourhood, near houses and bins.

It is thought that food left out for birds may be responsible for luring the furry rodents to the area.

As a result Milton Keynes Council has placed boxes containing poison around the estate to kill the critters off.

Dave Jones, 37, a father-of-one, who lives in Kilwinning Drive, said: "I've seen a few about. People have said that leaving bread and other food out is what's doing it.

"We obviously don't want them around as there will be kids out and about playing because of the school holidays.

"I think that people are going to have to be a bit more careful."

A Milton Keynes Council spokesman said: "We received an isolated complaint about rats in this area and as such we put down bait boxes to monitor and eradicate any possible problem.

"The boxes safely store approved poisons which the rats eat and then go off to die, normally back at their nest.

"We continue to keep an eye on the situation should any problem be found to recur.

"On a general note rats are attracted to litter, particularly food wrappers, so we would urge people to make sure they put their empty food wrappers in a bin. Less litter equals less rats."

If members of the public see rats on common land, such as near roads, they should call the council's pest control service on 01908 252551.

If anyone has a pest control problem on private land they are advised to contact one of the local Buy With Confidence approved traders whose details are available on the council's website - www.milton-keynes.gov.uk.

WITH the summer sun not arriving this year, perhaps now is a good time to start looking at knitwear - and with the launch of a new book, there are plenty of reasons to pick up those needles.

At Woburn Abbey yesterday, kids from Aspley Guise Lower School attended the launch of Aspley Collection Book One, which features a host of knitwear patterns by mum Lorraine Hearn from Woburn Sands.

The proceeds of the book will go to the school to help it reach its £80,000 target for a new building.

Battle lines drawn over army troops

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A COUNCILLOR who defected to UKIP believes his decision is justified following the announcement that army troop numbers will be cut.

Part of the reason Lee Barney, a councillor for Walton Park, left the Conservative Party was because he felt the Government's policy on the armed forces is wrong.

And following an announcement by defence secretary Philip Hammond on Thursday that the number of regular soldiers will fall by 20,000, he feels he made the right choice.

Himself a former soldier who served in Iraq, Cllr Barney said: "It's absolutely and utterly disgraceful, I think it will put this country in a very precarious position.

"I'm always concerned when politicians pretend to understand the military and they really don't have a clue.

"It will put men's lives at risk.

"I knew this was coming and I couldn't, in good conscience, continue in the Conservative Party - it made me question everything the Conservatives had ever done."

The cuts will be made by 2020, with the number of reservists increased by about 30,000.

Himself a serving member of the Territorial Army in the Royal Engineers, Tory MP Mark Lancaster says he thinks Cllr Barney is 'fighting a war of 20 years ago'.

"Reservists are highly suited because of their civilian skills for the sorts of tasks that will be required in the future, for example helping to build a government in a third world state," he said.

"We have to reconfigure the army to fight future wars, not the Cold War.

"There are very different skills we need, rather than the very traditional infantry-heavy army of the past.

"It's about balancing it so we are better suited for the types of things we might be doing in the future."

Cut it out: Janet Webster stands at the bus stop on the V11 where overgrown bushes are preventing drivers from seeing waiting passengers

Driven round the bend by bus stop

REGULAR users of a bus service are being left stranded - because drivers can't see them.

Complaints have been made to Milton Keynes Council about the bus shelter on the V11 Tongwell Street in Walnut Tree, as buses on the new number eight route have been driving past without stopping to pick people up.

That's because a large road sign and overgrown bushes block any waiting passengers from view.

The problem has got so bad one resident has considered going to cut the bushes down.

Janet Webster from Wavendon Gate said: "Everyone's missing the bus - it's to the point where I'm going to take my own shears and cut them myself.

"You can't see the buses coming and they can't see you, unless you stand in the lay-by.

"But it's dangerous. At one point I was in the lay-by and I just got a feeling I should move and it's just as well I did, because two cars then came charging in - they would have killed me had I not moved back. And also when it's raining you get soaking wet and the lorries drench you.

"The council promised it would move the sign, and I can understand that would cost money, but it wouldn't cost it anything to cut the bushes down, at least then we could see the buses coming."

The council says it is aware of the problem.

A spokesman said: "Proposals are being worked on and we will be undertaking a full road safety audit and consulting with the bus company when the solution is finalised."

A NEW PLAY COMMISSIONED TO CELEBRATE THE 2012 OLYMPIC GAMES
THE RIPPLE EFFECT
BY URSULA RANI SARMA
"The Ripple Effect will be a vibrant piece of new writing"
ADVERTORIAL
Ambassador Theatre Group (ATG) and Milton Keynes Theatre are hosting one of the most ambitious, nationwide, new writing projects seen in recent years to form an integral part of the London 2012 Festival.
The Ripple Effect will be a vibrant piece of new writing being premiered in different regions of the UK, and in a final celebration in the West End at a Gala Performance hosted by ATG.
Milton Keynes Theatre is one of 8 ATG venues taking part in The Ripple Effect and more than 40 local youngsters will be taking part in the exciting project aimed to connect with young people from diverse backgrounds with limited experience of arts engagement. Individuals taking part will acquire new skills based on the discipline of acting, working with professional artists, theatre staff and peer groups in a cultural workplace and self management.
The ATG Foundation has commissioned award-winning Playwright Ursula Rani Sarma to work closely with young people across the nation to deliver this original piece of work. Ursula is a critically acclaimed writer whose plays have been performed, published and translated extensively in the UK and Ireland and on the international stage. Prior to The Ripple Effect, Ursula has written for illustrious companies such as The National Theatre, The Traverse Theatre and The Abbey Theatre amongst others.
The production was influenced by ideas and themes from the participants on stage. Beginning in April this year, this piece has evolved though their hard work and commitment, ensuring this thought provoking piece of new writing will continue its life after the premier you will experience.
THE RIPPLE EFFECT imagines a post apocalyptic future and follows the journey of Beth and Christopher, as they take the first steps to breaking down the walls of segregation and isolation in an adventure that has a ripple effect across the country.
The performance you will see in Milton Keynes is the self-contained story from the second act of the five piece The Ripple Effect, and it is entitled "Making Contact".
Book your tickets to see The Ripple Effect on Sun 29 Jul 2012, 5pm - tickets are just £6. Visit www.atgtickets.com/miltonkeynes (bkg fee) or call Milton Keynes Theatre Box Office 0844 871 7652 (bkg fee).

Crossing to get back its stripes

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A ZEBRA crossing that is 'turning into a black horse' meaning cars are narrowly missing pedestrians is to be repainted - after a year-long campaign.

One of the representatives for Newport Pagnell on Milton Keynes Council, councillor Douglas McCall, says he has been asking for 12 months to have the white lines repainted on the crossing in St John's Street in the town.

He said he has witnessed a number of near misses between motorists and pedestrians as drivers can't see the crossing, and says he has nearly been knocked down twice.

"It's a disappearing zebra, the white stripes have worn away," he said. "It's turning into a black horse - and it's right outside Lloyds Bank.

"For the sake of a lick of paint, people's lives are being put in danger.

"There was a meeting about a year ago about a number of issues in the town, including this one, with transport officers.

"I started chasing again this calendar year, including the chief executive of the council, and then raised the issue again last month.

"Why does it take so much talk for people to do things?

"I'm willing to accept that they might need to prioritise resources, but as far as I'm concerned they should prioritise safety."

He said Milton Keynes Council has now told him the painting will be done.

A spokesman said: "Having reassessed the current markings, we have now brought forward this crossing in the works maintenance programme.

"We expect that work will be done in the next two weeks."

Cllr McCall says he will now be trying to get the white markings on the speed humps in Newport Pagnell repainted to ensure they can be seen in the dark.

Annual refuse sack deliveries are on the way

Annual deliveries of pink recycling and black refuse sacks to each household will take place from week commencing 16th July until the end of September.

Each household will receive one roll of 80 pink recycling sacks and one roll of 26 black refuse sacks. Additional pink recycling sacks are available free of charge at a number of outlets – visit our website for details.

Residents using the successful food and garden waste collections, combined with the pink sack and blue box recycling scheme, should find they have very little non-recyclable waste left to put in their black sacks. As a result, and to help reduce costs, the number of free black sacks delivered to each household was last year reduced by half to 26 sacks.

The council accepts any type of black refuse sack available from retail outlets, but additional black sacks are available to purchase at £1.75 per roll of 26 from all three Community Recycling Centres and also Bletchley and Fenny Stratford Town Council.

The new pink and black sacks, introduced last year, feature a slightly different design – while marginally shorter the sacks hold the same volume and are the same width. The difference is in the seal at the bottom which uses less material – this presents a cost saving to the council and is more environmentally-friendly.

To find out when you will receive your next delivery of sacks, visit our website at www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/recycling and key in your street name or call the Environmental Services Contact Centre on 01908 252570.

Apply liberally and dig in!

Gardeners can now purchase soil conditioning compost produced using Milton Keynes' food and garden waste as it is now available to buy at the council's three Community Recycling Centres (CRCs).

EnRich Compost is an excellent soil improver full of natural goodness for spreading on flower beds, vegetables patches and raised beds – it is not suitable for bedding plants in pots and tubs or for Ericaceous plants.

The compost is organic, peat free and made from 100% recycled materials, offering good water retention and soil enriching nutrients – it meets PAS 100, a quality standard for compost which ensures the product is safe, and the Compost Quality Protocol.

Available in 60 litre bags costing £4 each - or buy three bags for £10 - there is no limit of sale per customer. Residents can buy EnRich Compost at all three CRC sites:

- Bleak Hall,Chesney Wold, MK6 1NE
- Newport Pagnell, North Crawley Road, MK16 9HG
- New Bradwell, Newport Road, MK13 0AH

All sites are open from 8am to 8pm April to September.

THREE Olympians were among the 1,478 runners who braved the weather on Sunday to compete in this year's NSPCC half marathon.

The city welcomed Olympic hopeful Ser-Od Bat-Ochid from Mongolia, who stormed into first place with a speedy time of 1.04:42.

He said: "I really enjoyed the Milton Keynes half marathon it's been great to support the NSPCC."

Hot on his heels was Mike Tebulo from Malawi, who took second place, followed closely by team mate John Kayange.

For the past two years Paul Martelletti, who came in forth, has won the race but he has vowed to return next year and attempt to win back the title.

The first female to cross the line was Christina Muir, who completed the route in 1.19:28.

The MK NEWS-backed marathon has raised £410,000 for the NSPCC's services over the past 14 years.

Birthday party will help tackle issues

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

AN ESTATE'S 40th birthday party will be used to help tackle its social problems.

Netherfield is consistently named in the top ten 'worst' places to live in Milton Keynes in an annual Social Atlas, measured using factors such as crime and benefit claims.

So now its residents' association is using an annual fun day to celebrate both its 40th birthday and to inform those who live there how they can help get it out of the top ten.

Resident's association member Eamon Bobey said: "This is being organised to bring together the community, to have a fun day and tackle the issues raised in the Social Atlas.

"That's why we've invited a lot of different agencies to come together on the day.

"We want to give information out to people while they have fun."

Each agency present on the day will be aiming to tackle the issues highlighted for their particular area of expertise on the Social Atlas.

For example, last year's atlas indicated a rise in the number of fires on the estate, so Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue Service will be on hand to demonstrate a chip pan fire and what should be done to put it out.

Thames Valley Police will be there addressing safety in the home, as there has been a rise in the number of burglaries, and children's centres will be there to talk about education needs.

Aside from all of this, there will be the usual raffles, games, tombolas, craft making workshops and inflatables, as well as a huge birthday cake and a mini Olympics.

The event will take place on Saturday between 11am and 3pm at the ABC park on The Hide.

Birthday bash: Eamon Bobey

Get in the frame for art bursaries

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

AN ANNUAL search for the city's two most promising artists has been launched - with a total of £10,000 up for grabs.

MK Community Foundation has announced it again has bursaries for both an artist and a crafts person this summer, with £8,000 for the winning artist and £2,000 for a crafts bursary.

The bursaries have been created to enable local artists and crafts people to develop their skills and build their career in the arts or traditional crafts in the Milton Keynes area.

The MK Community Foundation £8,000 Arts Bursary is available to artists working in any medium who can demonstrate a desire to develop their artistic career and skills, and can be used for equipment, materials, training and related costs.

Grants director Bart Gamber said: "Through the Arts Bursary we have had the privilege to support the development of some truly exciting, unique and inspiring artists right here in our own community."

Also available is the £2,000 Adams Traditional Crafts Bursary, suited to individuals who are looking to develop their existing skills in stone masonry, thatching, wood work, silversmith and other areas, and can be used for materials, tools and training.

In the picture: Last year's bursary winners Hannah Vere and Nicholas Packham with a sculpture they presented to the Community Foundation at its 25th Anniversary Awards in 2011

Nicholas Packham, a traditional metal worker and last year's winner, said: "Winning the crafts bursary meant a great deal to me, having other people believe in my work encouraged me to push myself as a blacksmith and to network harder."

The deadline for applications for both awards is Monday, September 10.

Campaigner 'proud' to be in ceremony

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

AN ANTI-BULLYING campaigner will have the eyes of the world on him when he performs in the London 2012 Olympic Opening Ceremony.

Twenty-four-year-old Alex Holmes, originally from Stony Stratford, is brimming with pride after making it through two rounds of gruelling auditions to become one of the cast members of 'Isles of Wonder'.

He said: "Although my part is a very small I'm really proud to be in such an amazing show.

"There's so much excitement in the Olympic Stadium and I can't wait for the world to see Britain at its best."

The opening ceremony is being overseen by Oscar-winning director Danny Boyle and is inspired by Shakespeare's play The Tempest.

Alex explained: "The ceremony is an attempt to capture a picture of ourselves as a nation.

"The best part of telling that story has been working with our 10,000 volunteers. They are the purest embodiment of the Olympic spirit and represent the best of who we are as a nation."

Proud: Alex Holmes is set to perform at the Olympic Opening Ceremony

Since May Alex has been attending secret rehearsals in a number of locations from film studios to car parks and now the Olympic Stadium.

He said: "One of my first jobs was a broadcast journalist in Milton Keynes at the time of the Beijing Olympics and I got to go out in the city and report on the impact of the games.

"There was such a buzz then and I really think London hosting them will inspire a generation."

Playing his part in inspiring a generation should come easily to Alex, who has already proven to be a source of encouragement for young people through his National Anti-Bullying Campaign.

Alex started the campaign when he was at Kingsbrook College in Deanshanger after he had been a victim of bullying when he was 15 years old.

The ceremony will be broadcast at 9pm on July 27.

Fifty ways to get games fever

MANY of us are getting Olympic fever with the games rapidly approaching and Milton Keynes South MP Iain Stewart is no different.

The politician wants people to embrace London 2012 and is urging everyone to check out a list of 50 ways in which they can be a part of the spectacle.

Whether it's holding an opening ceremony party, watching events on TV or sending messages of support to Britain's Olympic and Paralympic athletes, there are plenty of ways to get involved - and lots you can do from the comfort of your own home.

As the torch relay passed through the city this week now is the perfect time to get into the Olympic spirit.

Mr Stewart said:"As we reach the final straight to the games, it's time for everybody to start thinking how they can play their part and celebrate what is going to be an incredible summer.

"The list of 50 ways to get involved has some great ideas.

"There is something in it for everyone, from making flame hats and shakers in school to the join in app for mobile phones.

"I am urging everyone to join in with the celebrations this summer and make the most of this once in a lifetime opportunity."

Zooming in on success: Haider Zafar on the set of The Rise and Fall of a White Collar Hooligan with director Paul Tanter

Focused on film

YOU can now find the name of one former city student in all good DVD shops.

That's because 28-year-old cinematographer Haider Zafar wrapped up the filming on his first feature film, The Rise and Fall of a White Collar Hooligan, last month and it was released into stores last week.

And the former Heronsgate and Sir Frank Markham pupil, who hails from Fishermead, is now hoping to drive forward his career to one day become a director.

He said: "As a kid I was fascinated by visual effects - Jurassic Park was one of the big ones for me. I always wanted to get into film.

"My role was filming physically, like a cameraman, but also cinematographers say how they want a film or a shot to look. It was an amazing feeling - I didn't know what to expect at first but I was doing something I've always dreamed of."

The film follows football hooligan Mike Jacobs, who gets drawn into a life of organised crime.

"I'm still trying to get to grips with the fact I've done it," Haider said. "When I walk into a shop and see the film with my credit on, it's a bit weird."

His first feature film is an achievement Haider is so proud of that he wanted to pass on some of his career tips to young people in the city.

"I would say if anyone wants to get into film, and you have a general idea about what you want to achieve, just focus on what that is," he said.

"The film industry isn't about where or what you studied, it's about what you can produce."

■ If you want to contact Haider for advice on getting into the film industry, visit www.haiderzafar.com, or follow @haider_zafar on Twitter.

Charity given a helping hand

THERE is a new member of staff at a city charity thanks to John Lewis.

Ride High helps disadvantaged children in Milton Keynes by developing their social and literacy skills and teaching them to ride and care for horses.

For six months Louise Case, a support co-ordinator from the John Lewis distribution centre in Magna Park, will work for Ride High at no cost to the charity.

Through its Golden Jubilee Trust scheme, John Lewis provides its staff with the opportunity to work for up to six months at a charity of their choice.

Ms Case said: "When I heard about Ride High it sounded like a great charity but nothing prepared me for what it does on a daily basis. I immediately wanted to help more and the scheme allowed me to make that a reality."

magicmoments

THERE'S no getting away from it – this is a film for the ladies.

If you think The Full Monty but with Channing Tatum instead of a group of blokes from Sheffield, then you are probably in the right neck of the woods.

Tatum stars as the film's title character, and he can't get enough of stripping because of the women, money and good times.

He's even training a young protege known as 'The Kid' to follow in his footsteps.

However, he quickly learns that although things seem magical, there may be a bit more to life.

Feelings and emotions of the cast then start to come to the fore so the film's not all debauchery.

Based on Tatum's real life experiences as a stripper, the audience of Magic Mike will probably be 99 per cent female.

You have to feel for any husbands or boyfriends who are dragged along.

getenergised

A FRESH and exciting two-day, free festival hits Campbell Park this weekend.

The third of four Gecko festivals in the park, Urban Spirit is action packed and just what you need to energise you for the Olympics.

Bands, DJs, street dance crews, BMX, skate and scooter display teams and many more events take centre stage for your adrenaline-pumping pleasure.

A second smaller stage will be exposing some fantastic new talents, presented by city promoters Underpass and Indiescreet. Performances take place on all stages between noon and 10.30pm.

School'sout

THE Last Daze of St Swithuns comes to Stantonbury Campus.

East End gangsters ponder where to hide their loot, a disused school perhaps? But it might not be disused for long as The St Swithuns' ladies are looking for a home.

The show is on from tomorrow until Saturday at 7.30pm. There is also a Saturday matinee at 2.30pm.

Tickets cost £12, £10 for concessions, and are available from 01908 324422.

singalong

A TRIBUTE to arguably the world's biggest band descends on The Stables on Friday.

Forever manage to replicate the unique look and sound of Abba, with attention to detail as the beautiful lyrics are sung in wonderful harmony by all six performers on stage.

Dynamic non-stop choreography, stunning visuals, top-class musicianship and an all-live performance ensure the show will captivate audiences in this two-hour sing-along special at 8pm.

Tickets £19.50, from 01908 280800 or www.stables.org.

triggerhappy

IF SITTING on your sofa shooting things sounds like your idea of a perfect night in then you might want to pick up Inversion, released this week on Playstation 3 and Xbox 360.

Set on an earth invaded by an unknown enemy at some point in the future, things are a little strange thanks to the laws of zero gravity which quite literally turn everything upside down.

You blast your way through the chaotic war zone as one of two characters and of course there is a multi-player option as well.

It's not as good as more famous shooters such as Gears of War, because the storylines and cut sequences just aren't as compelling.

But if you like pulling a trigger and blowing away enemies you will find plenty to keep you amused.

Inversion may not be the best in its genre but it still allows you to lock and load.

fridayfilm

MK GALLERY'S Friday Night Film is another science-fiction offering this week.

Gattaca is set in a strange future where some children are genetically engineered in order to give them the best possible traits from their parents.

These lab-created kids are considered to be superior to those who are born naturally, causing a devisive class divide.

This is classic, Oscar-nominated sci-fi. Tickets are £5, or £3 for concessions. Starts at 6.30pm. Pre-book on 01908 676900.

WHAT'S a typical day like for one of The Parks Trust's landscape officers, looking after our many parks and green spaces? NICK SIGGS tells us more

I'VE been a landscape officer at The Parks Trust for two years now, looking after parks including Willen Lake (which is probably my favourite), Campbell Park and Linford Manor.

My job is all about helping to plan the landscaping in the parks and then working with our contractors and others to make sure it all looks good, that the grass is mown, the paths are safe and clear, and the many varieties of plants and trees are in good condition.

On a typical working day I'll meet up with the contractors before walking round the different parks to check on work in progress, make sure all's well and see if there is any other work that needs to be done.

My border terrier Poppy often comes out on patrol with me.

Late afternoons are usually spent in the office - we have about 10,000 people whose properties border our parks so can often have quite a lot of queries to deal with!

I think what I enjoy most is being outdoors for so much of the time and being able to meet our park users. It's great to be able to do work that has such a direct impact on the environment and people's enjoyment of it.

doubletrouble

COMEDY double act McNeil and Pamphilon will be gracing the stage at Wolverton's MADCAP Performing Arts Centre on Sunday.

Also known as Steve and Sam, the much acclaimed funny duo will be using the gig to prepare for the Edinburgh Festival.

Joining them on the bill is actor and comic Thomas Nelstrop.

Doors open at 6.30 for a 7pm start. Tickets are available from www.wegottickets.com/event/169852.

gocamping

THIS summer there's a new and exciting theme every week at Camp MK's Activity Day Camps - and we have ten day passes to give away.

From the New Zoom Floom and Water Walkerz in Splash Mania Week, to sporting fun in Camp MK Olympics and the chance to make your own music video in Hurray For Hollywood Week, there's always a new adventure to discover.

And, while the themes may change, every holiday club is carefully tailored to different age groups.

Activities include team games, one-on-one activities, fun projects, creative arts and more.

Each Day Camp also has scheduled play at Activity Land's Outdoor Adventure Park.

Open to children from all schools, all Camp MK venues are Ofsted registered. And with everything provided, including a hot two-course meal, they are great value too.

Plus, with 12 easy to reach venues throughout MK, including Wolverton and Bletchley, you can book for one day or the whole of the holidays.

Or why not treat them to the ultimate Activity Day Camp experience at Gulliver's?

For more information, or to book, visit www.kidsplaychildcare.co.uk, or call 01908 209216.

For your chance to win one of ten day passes for your child at a Camp MK venue of your choice, simply answer the following question:

How many Camp MK venues are there in Milton Keynes?

Terms and conditions apply. Excludes Gulliver's and an extra charge will be incurred if prize is taken on a Wednesday. Not exchangeable for cash. Registration must be filled out before redeeming the prize.

Send your answer, name, address and daytime telephone number to competitions@mk-news.co.uk, or MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, MK15 0DU by July 18. The editor's decision is final.

Bedford Modern School.

HEALTH & FITNESS MANAGER

We are seeking a Health and Fitness Manager to join our Faculty of Sport team. This new and challenging opportunity will lead the delivery of strength and conditioning at the School, along with managing our new, modern Fitness Suite opening in September 2012.

This is an important role in the evolution of BMS Sport and the successful candidate will provide support and education regarding general health, physical literacy and fitness across the School.

The new position will also oversee the corrective exercise, strength and conditioning, rehabilitation programmes of our Performance Programme Athletes, liaising with the relevant National Governing Bodies, representative coaches, professional clubs and support personnel.

The hours are not fixed and the successful applicant will need to be flexible to meet the needs of the School, the Sports Faculty and the pupils. The hours and times are variable according to the term and holidays. This will be a full time role in the Autumn and Spring Terms, with a reduction in hours in the Summer Term and holidays. This equates to 30 hours per week, averaged over the year; however, a full time position would be considered for an exceptional candidate.

You will be qualified to degree level (or equivalent) in sports science or a related area, specialising in the physical preparation of athletes and have considerable experience in the provision of strength and conditioning services to athletes and coaches to improve performance. Experience working with young sportsmen and women would be highly desirable and a positive attitude to young people is essential. This is a practical, hands-on role and we are looking for a dynamic individual that can motivate and inspire our students of all ages and all abilities.

Closing date for applications is mid-day on 19 July 2012

Interviews will be held in the week commencing 23 July 2012

DARTS

Billy's bid for darts fame

HE'S already rubbing shoulders with darting royalty, and 13-year-old Billy Holmes could be the next big thing in the world of arrows.

The Newport Pagnell ace has ambitions to go right to the top of the sport and despite his youth has been impressing famous names on the PDC tour.

His talent has earned him a guest pass to PDC pro events where he mingles with top players such as Simon Whitlock, Dave Chisnall and Wes Newton.

Billy, known as 'The Kid', aims to join the PDC Youth tour – which is for the best U21 players in the world – within a year and he looks set to reach the last 64 of a tournament championed by darts legend Phil Taylor.

The Power is looking for a new protege and although the competition is open to all ages Billy, a pupil at Hazeley Academy, is more than capable of holding his own.

Dad Mark said: "He got a darts board for Christmas when he was eight and after a couple of weeks I said that he was making it look easy.

"Last Saturday he played in front of pro player Barrie Bates who was so impressed that he said he was one of the best 13-year-old players he'd ever seen.

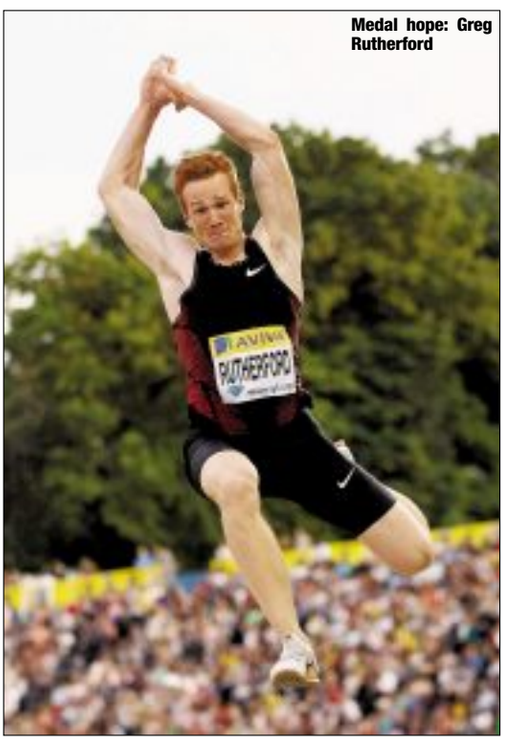
"My life is now about helping him become a top player in the world."

Darts is big business in the UK these days, with packed out arenas watching the top competitions while Sky Sports beams the action live.

"He practices for a couple of hours every day and his reputation is growing fast," Mark added.

ATHLETICS

Rutherford's preparation suffers setback in Spain



Medal hope: Greg Rutherford

CITY Olympian Greg Rutherford has been in inspired form in the lead up to London 2012 but the long jumper was far from his best as his build-up to the games continued in Madrid on Saturday.

The 25-year-old, who has the best jump in the world this year in the event, pulled out of the Meeting de Atletismo after three jumps and finished back in eighth place.

Rutherford's best effort up until that point was 7.81m, well short of 8.35m, the British record he shares with domestic rival Chris Tomlinson.

Australian Michael Watt won with a distance of 8.26m.

Bletchley athlete Rutherford withdrew with cramp and later admitted that it hadn't been his best night's work.

However, the medal hope insisted that there was no cause for alarm.

He said: "I went into cramp and pulled out of the meet.

"There's no drop in form and no major injury, just a nasty cramp so I pulled out.

"I wasn't going to risk anything."

CYCLING

Ian's keen to help out Cav

Team player: Ian Stannard, seen here winning the national road race title

IAN Stannard is delighted that he can call himself an Olympian, despite the fact that any personal ambitions will have to be put on ice at London 2012.

The city cyclist, a former member of Team Keynes, got his games call on Thursday and will take his place in the five strong road cycling squad along with Mark Cavendish, Bradley Wiggins, Chris Froome and David Millar.

Team Sky man Stannard was crowned national road race champion in Ryedale last month but he won't be celebrating personal glory in the capital, as the British team has been picked with the sole aim of helping cycling icon Cavendish pick up the gold.

The road race is very much an event where the team clubs together for the good of a designated rider who has the best chance of winning, and World Champion and Sports Personality of the Year winner Cavendish has been nominated as that man.

It means that focus will be away from Stannard but just appearing at an Olympics on home soil is still something that means a lot to the 25-year-old former Team Keynes cyclist.

"It's really nice to be selected for a home Olympics, it is super special," he told MK SPORT.

"Mark has a real chance of winning the race and we are all behind him.

"You sacrifice your personal goals but the team has been selected with that in mind."

A monumental group effort helped sprint specialist Cavendish claim gold and the famous rainbow jersey at last year's World Championships, and Britain will be hoping to set up a sprint finish in The Mall which the lightning quick Manxman will have an excellent chance of winning.

Riders aim to help the main man by taking turns in the wind, conserving his energy, and pegging back any attempts by rivals to break away.

Stannard joins table tennis' Andrew Baggaley, handball skipper Bobby White and athletes Greg Rutherford and Mervyn Luckwell as the city's Olympic representatives.

CRICKET

RAIN caused the abandonment of almost the entire local cricket schedule this weekend.

The only game to be completed was in the Four Counties League Division Three, where Shenley Church End (185/9) beat hosts Bromham (80 all out) by 105 runs.

SWIMMING

CITY of Milton Keynes swimmer Rebecca Marshall set a new club record for 50m freestyle (27.71 secs) when competing for Trinidad and Tobago at the XIX Caribbean Islands championships in Savaneta, Aruba last week.

Marshall swam in many events including relays, and also came away with a silver medal in the 200m individual medley.

At the Norwich 'midsummer madness' meet a team of swimmers won 73 medals – 33 of them gold – with 11-year-old Sydney Wood, who won ten golds, claiming the trophy for top female athlete. The club was named as top visiting club, beating out Stowmarket and Great Yarmouth.

For more on the club's activity this weekend visit www.mk-news.co.uk/sport.

HOCKEY

MILTON Keynes Hockey Club are hosting their annual summer camp between August 20-22 at Leon Leisure Centre.

Under the guidance of former England international Soma Singh, who won 65 international caps, the three day camp will touch on many aspects of the game.

The guide age is U10 to U14 and girls and boys are both welcome, although shin guards, gum shields and a stick are all required. For more see www.mkhockey.co.uk.

ROWING

OLNEY'S Eleanor Piggott has been selected to race in the lightweight women's double scull at the World U23 Championships.

The 21-year-old, who will hope to break into the senior ranks for the 2016 Olympics in Rio, will compete in Trakai, Lithuania with the event getting under way today.

ATHLETICS

THERE was a brilliant gold medal for Marshall Milton Keynes athlete Jackson Curtis in the South of England U20 Championships at Crystal Palace.

He set a new club M20 Record of 67.15m in the javelin. At the English Schools' Championships in Gateshead the club gained five top eight finishes but no medals, while 30th placed Gary Blaber led the club home in the MK half marathon.

RUGBY LEAGUE

MK WOLVES picked up their first point since their formation thanks to a 24-24 draw with Kings Lynn Black Knights at Emerson Valley.

FORMULA ONE

Webber signs on after race triumph at Silverstone

MARK Webber was in majestic form as he clinched his second British grand prix victory – and yesterday it was announced that he would be staying at Red Bull Racing for another year.

A memorable weekend for the city team was capped off by the contract news, which has ended speculation about the future of the Australian. He said signing on again was an easy decision to make although he admitted that there were discussions were held with Ferrari.

Webber's British triumph was thanks to a superb piece of driving late on which saw the Australian dart past Ferrari's Fernando Alonso.

It meant a third success in four years for the Tilbrook outfit at Silverstone, who also saw Sebastian Vettel finish third.

Red Bull now have a 64 point lead over second placed Ferrari at the top of the constructors' championship, thanks to the extremely useful points haul.

Webber, second in the drivers' standings, has cut the gap to current leader Alonso to 13 points, and Vettel has moved into third.

Team Principal Christian Horner described the grand prix as an 'unbelievable' one for Red Bull, and the day went so well because team tactics, especially with regards to tyres, paid off handsomely.

After the final pit stops Alonso was using softer tyres but Webber was on the more effective hards.

Alonso led for most of the race but Webber sensed a chance with four laps to go and grabbed it with both hands, sublimely sliding past the Spaniard at the Brooklands corner.

He said: "It's taking a while to sink in this one. I think it was the circumstances of the race – for most of it I was marking off second place.

"Fernando was not quite out of touch and after the last stop, my engineer Ciaron came on the radio saying that Fernando was not doing much on the option tyres.

"When I got within two seconds I thought maybe he's in a little bit of trouble and it was completely game on when I knew the DRS was available. I made the move stick and our hard work paid off.

"There were discussions with Ferrari, but my decision was to stay here. Overall the continuity and desire for me to continue at Red Bull Racing was very strong."

Horner had reiterated his desire to keep both of his drivers after Vettel was also linked with Ferrari.

The German has also signed on for 2013 so the team's line-up is confirmed.

He said: "The start was not so good. I lost a little bit and then got stuck behind Michael Schumacher, but we had a good strategy to come back.

"We decided to pit early and we came out ahead, so that was a good call. I would be a bit happier if we had won today, but it was a great result for the team."

Horner added: "Starting the race, our strategy was slightly different to Ferrari with Fernando opting to start with the harder tyre, but we knew we could make our strategy work if we stuck to our plan.

"Mark caught Fernando and made a fantastic manoeuvre around the outside."

New deal for Webber after British win

Back: Alan Smith as Dons began pre-season training yesterday

Picture: Andy Handley.

Smithy's back for good

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@mk-news.co.uk

DONS boss Karl Robinson said that the club had come on 'years in a short space of time' after former England man Alan Smith signed a permanent deal.

Robinson secured his top transfer target by convincing the ex-Man Utd midfielder to come back full-time after last season's loan switch, and said the clubs he had to fight off to get his man were 'frightening'.

Smith, who played the back end of the last campaign following his shock loan move from Newcastle, has signed a two-year contract.

He joined his team-mates at Woughton on the Green yesterday as the first team began their pre-season training and is one of the most high-profile players to ever join the club.

Dons were able to sign Smith on a free transfer after he was released by Newcastle, but he will now be on significantly less money.

Robinson, however, was always confident that the deal would be done, predicting that Smith would be at the club if he was at the beginning of the summer break.

"It's fantastic to have him as an MK Dons player, not just as a loan player," the manager said.

"To have someone with his quality in our ranks is a tremendous accolade for the club.

"I think that look in his eye gave me the confidence that he'd stay, but we were still not quite sure.

"The teams he has rejected in the summer to stay here are frightening and that's testament to the type of player he is. It's a massive signing, one of the biggest we've made."

Smith started out up front but now he usually plays in midfield.

Robinson believes that the signing, which he has been working on throughout the summer, is evidence of the progress the club has made both on and off the pitch.

He said: "We've come on years in a short space of time.

"We had a five year plan to get the club to a level where we felt we could sustain a budget and run with quality players, and we're probably ahead of schedule."

Smith confirmed that he had other offers from higher levels.

He said: "I made it clear I wanted to stay. I think for me, at this stage of my career, I've come to the perfect place.

"What I hope for now is two years where I can commit, give everything that I've got and do everything in my power to help us win promotion to the Championship."

Dons take a look at striker Deon Burton

DEON Burton is a possible transfer target for Dons after the 35-year-old striker accepted a trial with the club.

The Jamaican international forward was present when pre-season training began yesterday.

Burton is best known for spells with Derby County, Sheffield Wednesday and Charlton but if he impresses he could put himself in line for a move to stadiummk.

His last club were Azerbaijan outfit FC Gabala, managed by Tony Adams.

A striker is on manager Karl Robinson's shopping list as he looks to bolster his ranks ahead of a League One title push.

The boss told MK SPORT: "Deon's got tremendous quality and class.

"He looks fit and he's a proven goalscorer, so we'll see where it takes us."

More trialists are expected to join the club for training, with the squad jetting out to Ireland on Friday to continue their pre-season preparations.

On Thursday Dons completed the signing of former Sheffield Wednesday and Liverpool right-back Jon Otsemobor, who Robinson hopes will solve the problems he had with that position last season.

The 29-year-old struggled with injuries for most of 2011/12 and was a free agent after leaving Sheffield Wednesday.

Robinson believes that he could have captured the best right back in the league if he can keep him fit, and he said that he was as good a player as Adam Smith, who put in some inspired performances last season until his loan switch from Tottenham was abruptly cut short.

"He's a machine of a guy," he said. "We're looking forward to him lighting the place up with the pace that he's got, he can get up and down the pitch.

"Jon is quicker than Adam Smith, although maybe not as dynamic. But he's as good as him and I'm looking forward to seeing him play."

Robinson added that he didn't expect any new arrivals to sign imminently.

"Not in the coming days," he said. "It's got to be right."

Meanwhile, no players have returned overweight after a fine of two weeks' wages was promised for anyone who did.

Luke Chadwick has recovered from the knee operation he had in May better than expected and is back running.
